Men's Rushing Opens at Noon September 28; Rulings Revised

Fechet, Marvin, Wilbur, Doyle
to Address Prospective Pledges

COUNCIL COOPERATES

Schedule Allows for Visits to
All Group Houses; Ask
Enforcement of Rules

Beginning Wednesday, September 28, at noon, the social fraternities of the campus will open a four-day social program entertaining eligible freshmen preparatory to pledging.

This program, which is an annual affair, promises to be more intense this fall than in previous years. The marked proportional increase in men's registration this semester presents the fraternity, not so much with the problem of acquiring men, but with making the most compatible contacts on both sides.

Although the depression has curtailed the expense accounts, many interesting events have been scheduled. An examination of smokers presents such interesting speakers as Major General Fechet, President Marvin, Provost Wilbur, and Dean Doyle. Dances, dinners, theater parties and straw rides are featured among other events.

The Interfraternity Council has cooperated in an effort to produce a schedule which will give the men a chance to visit all of the groups represented on the campus. In this manner, it is hoped that a more complete contact can be made.

The rush rules, which are most important, have been designed with the idea of better organizing the rushing period.

Rules Set Forth

In order to clarify these rules in the minds of the freshmen, they are presented here as follows:

1. Until Wednesday, September 28, at noon, there shall be no rushing. This, in fact, means that there will be no association between fraternity men and freshmen off campus. Dating men for rush events is not included in this clause.

2. Beginning Wednesday, September 28, at noon, and running until Sunday, October 2, at noon, there shall be rushing or free association of freshmen and fraternity men, but no pledging.

3. Beginning Sunday, October 2, at noon, pledging shall begin.

Cooperation is asked in keeping the letter and the spirit of these rules. Freshmen should remember that infraction of these rules but demonstrates the character and apparent desperate condition of the violating group.

Advisors Assigned To New Students

Fixed Office Hours of Professors
Make Freshmen
Consultation Easy

In keeping with the advisory system set up last year for all students in the Junior College, faculty advisors have recently been assigned for all freshmen newly registered in the University.

Freshmen are required to consult their advisors at least once during each semester when satisfactory work is being done, and at such other times as may appear necessary if their work is not satisfactory. Advisors are required to maintain hours that will enable them to be available for consultation with their students frequently to advise them on all matters of difficulty whether they be of a personal, educational or vocational nature. It is the object of the advisory system to build up not merely a formal relationship between the teacher and student, but a close personal relationship as well.

On September 21, the first of a series of Wednesday noon assemblies for freshmen women, conducted by Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, was held in Corcoran Hall, Room 10. These assemblies are designed to augment the advisory system in enabling freshmen women to become more easily and more quickly oriented at the university.

Panhellenic Gives Freshmen Women Organization Rules

Rushing Starts October 2,
Ends October 12; Pledge
Two Days Later

Freshmen women will be interested in learning the rules promulgated by the Panhellenic Association of the University to govern rushing among the various sororities composed of representatives of each of the eleven national sororities. Panchel wishes each freshman to familiarize herself with the regulations as set forth below. These regulations have already been brought to the attention of the freshmen in the form of a pamphlet distributed during registration.

It should be understood that infringement of any rule either by a sorority as a whole, or by any member, reflects on the character of the group, and subjects it to severe penalties.

During the period from September 26 to October 2, no sorority will be allowed to communicate with freshmen, either on or off the campus.

On October 2 at 4 p. m., open rushing will begin, and will last until midnight of October 4. October 5, 6, 7 and 8 have been set aside for closed dates. During this time no sorority will be allowed to communicate with freshmen except during its own function.

Open rushing will again take place from October 9 to 11, inclusive, and on October 12, every sorority will entertain at its final party. From midnight October 12 until 8 a. m. October 14, there will be no communication. October 14 is pledge day.

Non-communication means absolute silence—no talking, telephoning or writing. During the rush season this will be effective from midnight until 8 a. m., except during longer specified periods. The only exception to this is the mailing of the form invitations and the answers thereto. The closed date is the time specified during which only one sorority may entertain.

Medical Instructors' Views Startle World

Roe and Schwartzmann State Galatose
a Valuable Aid to Diabetes

Joseph H. Roe and A. S. Schwartzmann, instructors in the Biochemistry department of George Washington University, startled the medical world in a recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association by stating that galatose was a valuable aid in the treatment of diabetic cases. This conclusion, arrived at through the observations of these two members of the George Washington staff, is a radical departure from the traditional view held in the medical world and has received much attention in clinics and hospitals of renown.

Personal Application Required

Applicants for positions on the Cherry Tree, the University yearbook, should apply in person at the Cherry Tree office, 2016 H street, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, according to announcement by Ralph R. McCoy, the editor.

Freshmen Smoker Set for October 4

Student Council Committee
Assists President Marvin
With Plans

There will be a smoker for all Freshmen men in Corcoran Hall, on Tuesday, October 4, at 8 p. m.

The idea of this smoker originated with President Cloyd Heck Marvin, who feels that this will give the freshmen an opportunity to get acquainted with each other. A committee from the Student Council, consisting of Jack Goode, Valpean Darling and James Haley, is cooperating with Ted Rinehart in making arrangements for the affair.

President Marvin will be present and speak to the group. There will also be short speeches by others prominent in University life, and plans are under way for a boxing exhibition and other entertainment.

Harmon Announces Glee Club Audition To Start Tuesday

Try-outs for New Members to
Be Held in Corcoran Hall
Thursday Evening

Tryouts for membership in the glee clubs of the University will start at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 27, in Room 29, Corcoran Hall, under the direction of Dr. Robert Howe Harmon, director of both the women's and men's glee clubs. The first auditions will be for members of last year's men's glee club. All members of last year's club who are necessarily absent from Tuesday's tryouts are cautioned to notify Dr. Harmon of such absence immediately in order to eliminate confusion in the formation of a list of prospective members for the new glee club.

Tryouts for prospective new members will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening, September 29, at the same place. All men interested in securing places in the club are urged to appear at the trials in order that a strong chorus of the same quality as those which have been nationally famous in the last three years may be built up.

Survey Reveals First-Year Students Everywhere Favor Freshmen Rules

Forced Attendance at Games, Show of Respect to Upperclassmen, Wearing of Buttons Among Regulations
Objected to by Faculty

By KARL DIEFFENBACH.

3. An attitude of respect, and frequently "sir" when a freshman addresses an upper classman.

4. Knowledge of all university yells and songs.

5. Submission to the wishes of the upper classmen if those wishes are not of a humiliating or degrading nature. In the event that a freshman believes himself to be imposed on to a degree that is not fair, he may present his case to a committee of students where the matter is adjusted in a satisfactory manner. It may be added that these appeals are extremely rare.

The freshmen of these universities are not opposed to the enforcement of these rules. The result of the poll clearly indicates that there was an overwhelming majority in the case of every school considered in favor of the observance of freshmen rules.

Decisive Victory Recorded Over Washington and Lee in Opening Game of Schedule; Fenlon Stars

Generals Never Threaten as Line Holds Unflinchingly; Stew-
are, Dike, Chambers and Kriemelmeyer
Furnish Stellar Defense

By JOHN EVERETT

Lexington, Va., Wilson Field.—A smart and aggressive George Washington football team opened their 1932 season with a clean-cut 18-0 victory over a surprised Washington and Lee eleven in the Generals' stadium last Saturday before some 3,000 fans.

Famous Radio Singer Accepts Honorary Bid To Alpha Eta Epsilon

Vaughn de Leath, famous radio singer, has accepted an invitation to honorary membership in Alpha Eta Epsilon, national dramatic fraternity, it was announced early this week.

Miss de Leath's programs during the past few years over the Columbia Broadcasting System have gained her a reputation as one of the foremost stars of radio. While no definite date has been set, it is expected that she will be inducted into membership before the end of this year.

Alpha Eta Epsilon was founded at George Washington University nearly two years ago. It numbers among its members undergraduate students who have won recognition in various fields of dramatic art, as well as persons of note whose prominence in such work is already well established.

Troubadour Board Seeks New Music

Effort Is Being Made to Acquire Original Scores for 1932 Show

Original musical scores for the 1932 Troubadour shows are needed.

The Troubadour Board is making a particular effort this year to obtain music from as many students as possible, in order that the score may be even more varied than in past successes.

It is not essential that these manuscripts be in final shape or that anything more than the tunes be submitted as they can easily be perfected and adapted for use in the show by members of the music staff of Troubadours. Manuscripts may be submitted to Dan Beattie, music director, 1714 Rhode Island avenue, or left with Catherine Prichard, publicity director, in room 13, Building M.

Announcement of the book selected by the committee headed by Denis Connell, coach of the last seven shows, will be made next week. Mr. Connell will report to the board on the manuscripts submitted to him, and which he has been considering.

Rooters Go Rampant In Hoydenish Holiday

Baggage car dancing, home-made sandwiches, vocal refraining and campus celebrities featured the attractions offered on the Colonial's special train to the General's headquarters. As the passengers left taxis and entered Union Station, it was not hard to see evidences of much team support, with the Buff and Blue band, appropriately posed peddlers and proud football girls, all ready to board and go south. These enthusiasts left the station at 7:30 Saturday morning with the realized expectation of a colorful jaunt and football success.

Director Louis Malkus called a tea dance at 11 a. m. in the baggage car. An eight-piece orchestra composed of band talent played snappy tunes as the supporters danced and the four-car special rolled on to Lexington. On its arrival the train was met by a host of George Washington backers who went down by car, these joined the big parade led by the band in all its splendor. This impressive display marched up to the Buff and Blue headquarters, the Robert E. Lee Hotel, through throngs of spectators who lined the sidewalks.

The Colonials played smart football, taking advantage of the breaks to get a 12-0 lead early in the first quarter and following it with another touchdown in the third period when Finis Parrish dashed 55 yards to the goal for the longest run of the day. Never during the entire game was the Buff and Blue goal line threatened. W. and L. backs never got beyond the G. W. 25-yard line. The Colonials made 14 first downs, while the Generals got but four.

Little Johnny Fenlon proved to be the most outstanding back on the gridiron, due not only to his accurate forward passing, which was responsible for the initial touchdown, but also for his brainy ground gaining. "Oots" Kriemelmeyer's proficient booting easily outdistanced his opponents' best attempts, while his backing up of the line was one of the high lights of the game. Capt. Chambers, "Zuzu" Stewart and Tom Dike were the bulwarks of the formidable Colonial line which repeatedly threw W. and L. backs for no gain.

Mulvey Receives Pass for Touchdown
George Washington registered their first marker early in the first period after W. and L. kicked off to Strayer, who returned the ball 18 yards to his own 36-yard line. Line plays failed to gain and Kriemelmeyer kicked to Henthorne, who fumbled the ball. Finis Parrish recovering for G. W. on the Generals' 41-yard line. Successful plunges by Fenlon and Kriemelmeyer made a first down followed by a 19-yard gallop by Fenlon. On the last down, "Soapy" threw a bullet-like pass over the W. and L. goal line to Mulvey, who juggled and held on to the ball after falling to the ground. Fenlon missed the extra point.

Washington and Lee had its best opportunity to score shortly afterwards when Sawyer, General quarterback, intercepted a G. W. pass and ran 15 yards

Council Committee Tests Point System

Betty Coon and Edith Grosvenor to Conduct the Investigation

Due to the different evaluations of campus organizations and the dissension caused by the system of accounting of the University point system, the Student Council has undertaken an investigation of the point system. A committee composed of Edith Grosvenor and Betty Coon was appointed by President Elton Billings to look into the matter. Until a satisfactory conclusion is reached the former system will not be enforced.

The principal cause of the trouble has been the reckoning of short and long-run organizations. The Troubadours is perhaps the best example of a short-run group. Under the system instigated last fall, the managing director of Troubadours received eight points and the members of the board of directors five points. This equals the amount received by other societies which run all year. The main argument has been that the Troubadours should not receive the same consideration due to their short active existence. The other side refutes this, maintaining that the time is very intensive and the work is as hard as an all-term group. The argument has caused such widespread interest that the Council felt an investigation necessary so that some decision may be made which will be fair to all concerned.

Due to the failure of Mabel Money to return to the University this fall, Margaret Maxwell as recipient of the next highest number of votes was automatically installed as a member of the Council.

RUSHEES—BE CAREFUL!

Tomorrow begins "rush season." You are in for a whirl of entertainment which is supposed to acquaint you with the various social organizations at George Washington. At the end of this period some of these fraternities will offer you bids to affiliate with them. You will have to choose between these offers and in some cases the choice will not be an easy one.

Take your time and approach the problem with your eyes open to all the pitfalls that it entails. Some men may not tell you the whole truth concerning their particular organization. Some may tell more than the whole truth. You will have to make detailed inquiry about these organizations so that you will have dependable information upon which to base a judgment that will be fair to you and the group which you are considering.

Remember that your choice is final. You will have to associate yourself with the group you select for a period of at least four years. You may not stay at George Washington during your entire collegiate career. How does this or that fraternity stand on their campuses? What about its alumni organization? How about their finances? How old are they and how have they prospered? What is their policy regarding expansion? What about this chapter—do they have men in activities and are their grades up to the average of the University? Ask them all the questions you can think of. It is up to you to find out about them because, after all, it is your life you are contracting to spend in their company.

Do not be misled by those individuals who are so obviously "taking care" of you. Be sure that they are not trying to cover up weaknesses. Inquire into their personal history—take your time and, above all, be sure that you make up your own mind in the matter.

Daily Northwestern Favors Deferred Rushing

Deferred Versus Immediate

Now that classes are under way the north quad and off campus houses may once more lapse into a state of coma. Each fall sees that annual period of insanity known as Rush week, and this autumn was by no means an exception. In spite of surrounding economic instability this year, amounts ranging from three to twelve hundred dollars were spent by fraternities in order to pledge men to their organizations. There might be some justification for this expensive process if the university or even the fraternity system itself profited thereby. But under the present arrangement we have such features as "hot-box" sessions, subtle slander, and jealousy and hatred between houses. It sometimes takes a whole generation of college men to eradicate ill will which was aroused during rushing period. The net result under the present procedure is decidedly detrimental to the solidification of campus spirit here, and therefore a liability to the whole university.

Of course, this method of rushing is traditional on this campus. But instead of eliminating the defects in the system as the years go by, more vicious ones have been picked up. Unless some educational or social genius devises a new means for rushing, there are only two courses of action open to alleviate the situation; change to deferred rushing or do away as much as possible with those evils under immediate rushing.

The moment deferred rushing is mentioned, the campus-wide group will shout, "Look at Michigan!" It is true that the oldest school in the Big Ten is abandoning that system his fall. However, their reason for throwing it over proves to be a very interesting one. Certain houses at Ann Arbor have found it impossible to pledge any one after the freshman class has had a whole year to look them over.

Let us look at the advantages to be gained from the deferred system. In the first place, freshmen would have a whole year in which to look around at the various houses, in contrast to the present method in which they are whirled dizzy for a week and take whatever button is offered them at the opportune moment. Houses will find it impossible to put on a "front" for an entire school year, and would be forced to raise their standards of scholarship or methods of conduct. It is extremely doubtful, however, if the expense of rushing would be cut down in any degree. Organizations would be forced to entertain over the period of a year, and competition once more would force up the cost.

The perfect method of rushing does have these factors in its favor. First, it provides an immediate tie-up with the campus as soon as the newcomer arrives. A freshman dorm might do the same but it is extremely doubtful whether it could provide the same congenial atmosphere. Secondly, under immediate rushing, neophytes are pushed (sometimes paddled) into study and activities. If left to their own devices, many freshmen would merely become stagnate. By straightway becoming an integral part of life on campus, these youngsters develop more rapidly than they would perhaps under a dormitory system.

What then could be done to patch up the status quo and preserve it from internal decadence? Here are a few suggestions in mathematical order: First, the University should in a neutral manner thoroughly inform the freshman what to expect from fraternities when he arrives on campus. This would eliminate the "hot-box" evil. Second, an efficient inter-fraternity council should set some standard rate of expenditures for rushing, with all the organizations adhering to it as a gentleman's agreement. Third, subtle and malicious slander of rival groups should be tabooed and outlawed.

—THE DAILY NORTHWESTERN.

CHIPS :-:

Welcome, freshmen and freshwomen! Now you are duly enrolled and endowed with all the independence and individualism of a senior. You have been given a button which you cannot wear and doctored four bits for a topper which you have been forced to doff. Be not chagrined, but laugh—and if you can't laugh, "you can't take it."

All aboard! I suppose everyone went abroad to see the star spangled uniforms of the bicentennial Colonials who handed it to the Generals who, from all reports, couldn't take it.

And, of course, it's no mystery to those who went on that Special why Fesler outshone Beethoven in his own field with that famous "Station Stop" aria. In India Mahatma Gandhi has been dubbed a martyr just because he's starving himself. At G. W. he'd be just another man who'd paid the first installment of his tuition.

Whitey (Blonde Menace) Halverson has been imported by a certain campus group to add potency to its rushing. The sororities are also pleased—he does have a way (?) with the freshmen. Among our incoming jade-tinted friends Rollo gets himself a pal, self-named Nosey Josephine. Little Nosey's trying to muscle in on Betty No-name's last year's fame. By the way, where art thou, Betty?

Goldarn these females anyhow. A man can't even sling a little dirt nowadays but what some woman doesn't horn in. Go pick a daisy, Josie. Talking about pals, here's little Albert Neviaser, who humorously (?) calls our beloved rag a "Hammer," and what "ain't" never had his name in public print before. There you are, little Albie, go brag to your friends. As a suggestion for improving next year's registration, Rollo advises that they clear Corcoran Hall of fraternity men so that the freshmen can register.

By the way, if anyone hears of any dirty rushing, please let Rollo know at once, for he's a hound for that kind of dirt. Now that Potter's Peggy's on the campus, the miscellaneous activities of this "dred big independent" man will be drastically curtailed due to the depression, of course. Mrs. Barrows will serve as a psychology instructor this year. Oh, me! Oh, my! The welcome night free Turkish bath wasn't so productive—perhaps due to the fact that it was a better season for tailors and taxicabs than blondes and coeds. Buell and Laz (hirsute) Sommers are not sipping cokes from the same cup this year according to advance reports. Kappa Brookie announces that she will bolt the party this year and vote for Roosevelt. These obstreperous Republicans! To the casual observer, Elmer Louis' late Ph.D. is not what you might call immediately noticeable except for the increasing portly dimensions.

We nominate for oblivion Miss K. Thomas, who, when applying for a job on the society staff of The Hatchet, submitted the list of midshipmen functions for the coming year as an example of her ability to hold down the job. After all, that's how Dille got her start, so don't lose hope, little one. Buster Brown is now a hero in local circles, since he extinguished the fire at the Sig house with a total loss consisting of one scorched suit of unmentionables belonging to the cook. To the onlooker, the Chi O open house was a pretty fine men's rushing event.

And now pardon little Rollo until after the Greek's sirocco has blown itself out next Sunday, on which date every local lodge will have pledged absolutely bona fide, guaranteed, the best men on the campus. Until then, a little cheer and pleasant dreams. Au revoir.

DICK ROLLO.

Dr. Johnstone Comments on Foreign Conditions in Interview With Reporter

"In Germany the situation is serious, but not hopeless, while in Austria it is hopeless, but not serious," says Dr. William Crane Johnstone, professor of political science, in commenting on conditions in Europe, where he and Mrs. Johnstone spent the summer.

The people of Germany know they have the power and that it is possible to change the bad economic and political situation existing, therefore they are restless, creating a strained atmosphere, while their neighbors, the Austrians and Hungarians, are indifferent, feeling they are unable to alter their predicament, and that some more powerful nation would come to their aid in case of complete collapse. Unemployment is very noticeable in Germany, but is under better control in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, England, Hungary and France, where it is not so obvious.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnstone spent two weeks at the Disarmament Conference at Geneva, where they heard all the conferences that led up to the adoption of the Benes resolution. They attended sessions of the League Council and League Assembly.

While in Czechoslovakia, they viewed the Exhibition of Sokol, given at Prague. This gymnastic club meets every seven years for an exhibition of gymnastic exercises which are participated in by 15,000 persons.

Much time was spent in interviewing newspaper men, and the information obtained will be very useful in the public opinion phase of his course in International Relations, Dr. Johnstone believes, as he has first-hand knowledge and experience in conversing with the writers of public opinion in foreign countries.

Ruediger Produces Book on Education

"Teaching Procedures" Is Written During Dean's Sabbatical Leave

"Teaching Procedures" is the title of a new volume on education written by Dr. William Carl Ruediger, dean of the School of Education, while he was on sabbatical leave last year. The first semester of his leave he spent at Cornell University, where he taught one graduate class in education and prepared his recently published book. The rest of his vacation was spent traveling in Europe.

The book, which covers the whole broad field of methods of teaching, has already received very favorable comment by reviewers in both the Pennsylvania School Journal and School and Society.

William McAndrew in School and Society says: "The chapters on teaching of appreciation are remarkably fresh and guiding. He knows his stuff. In the present volume he covers the whole field of modern emphasis on economic, scientific and purposive use of teaching processes and does it convincingly."

Last spring Dean Ruediger spent in England, where he visited primary, elementary and secondary schools in London, and Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The George Washington School of Engineering has trained some of the outstanding engineers of this country, notably a number who have directed such vast engineering projects of the Federal Government as the Panama Canal, the Roosevelt Dam, and the Coolidge Dam.

A book entitled "Teaching Procedures" written by Dr. William Carl Ruediger, Professor of Education has been published recently.

The greatest football player of all times is Jim Thorpe of Carlisle. Ernie Nevers of Stanford and Red Grange of Illinois, tied for second place, according to a board of twelve of the most competent coaches in the country.

The Foreign Service Branch of the School of Government of the University was the first founded in the United States.

The faculty editorial board of the University Law Review has announced the appointment of 34 law students as a board of editors. Appointments were made on the basis of high scholastic standing and ability to contribute to the work of the Review, to appear quarterly beginning with the Bicentennial number in November.

The mammoth replica of George Washington's coat of arms planted on the north slope of the Monument Grounds is now in full bloom. More than 40,000 plants are said to be used in the display.

Twenty-five years ago this week, the Division of Education of The George Washington University was opened with Prof. Hough in charge and 34 students enrolled.

Local First-Year Students Favor Freshmen Rules

The conditions in the foregoing universities where there are a larger number of day and boarding students are such as would tend to increase the sentiment against sophomore rules if such a sentiment did exist. But the figures show conclusively that there is no such trend. At George Washington, in spite of the widely differing conditions, 90 per cent of the students interviewed favor the sophomore rules. It might be noted also that the sophomore rules for George Washington are less restrictive in nature than those of any college in this vicinity, and, indeed, they are less so than in any college of the size of George Washington in the entire country.

Westminster Contest Adjudged Breather By Prognosticator

Little Information Available Concerning Ability of Pennsylvania Outfit

By IKE HOGAN

Friday night at 8 the George Washington Colonials will engage the gridiron warriors of Westminster College from Pennsylvania in the Griffith Stadium. This contest is considered by George Washington adherents to be a "breather" for our footballers in preparation for the highly touted fray with Alabama the next week-end.

Notwithstanding the fact that this game is so considered by some fans, reports have trickled in from the Pennsylvania town here Westminster is located that certain loyal gentlemen have offered George Washington 6 points. However, the authenticity of this rumor is doubtful.

As The Hatchet goes to press there is a dearth of information concerning the worth of this eleven from Ol' Pennsy. Their first game was with Duquesne University, and they came out on the wrong end of a 20 to 0 score. At first glance this count looks rather sad for Westminster; however, when one considers the average standard of Duquesne elevens this score bespeaks well for our opponents of next Friday eve.

Last Saturday Westminster tussled with Slippery Rock College, whipping them to the count of 20 to 0.

It is safe to predict that Coach Jim Pixlee will start his first team and keep them in the game long enough to pile up a comfortable lead and then substitute at will.

The University of Pennsylvania has the honor and distinction of having had a class meet in jail, way back in the 1800's. A certain professor was jailed and the whole class, with touching loyalty and interest went to his bedside to hear him lecture. It was suggested that today the professor would probably be bailing out his students.

SPORT AXE

By IKE HOGAN

One down! After doubt and gloom had assailed the followers and coaches of the Colonials for several weeks regarding the outcome of that contest with Washington and Lee, 'twas really quite a surprise when our doughty gridironers so thoroughly trounced the Generals.

the Alabama fray. And "fray" it will be . . . in every sense of the word!

It was coordination and brainy football that won that game for George Washington. The two teams averaged just about even as far as weight was concerned and speed is of no avail unless coordination is present. Every man played "heads up" football, to quote Jack Espey, high-powered publicity man.

Let your imagination run rampant and picture Joe Carter, Nig McCarver, and Lee Carlin alternating with dashing Johnny Fenlon on the off-tackle plays in that little set-to of Saturday afternoon. Perhaps we shall see such an exhibition in the next couple of games. Of course Carlin will be out, and as yet no further information is to be had concerning the possibility of his returning for even one game.

In the first half the majority of the line plungers fell to the lot of Art Krimmeyer and Finis Parrish. Nice . . . both of them. A number of times one or the other of these two put the ball over the line to get ten more yards.

If you'll remember watching Johnny Fenlon, do you remember the off-tackle plays. John would not rush blindly for where the hole in the opposing line should be . . . not John . . . but calmly he would pocket the ball beneath his arm, advance forward at a good pace . . . sort of a phantom-like stride . . . suddenly he would espy a hole and dash through, then fade and feint before the secondary defense downed him. "Soapy" was, by far, the best back on the field of play.

"ZuZu" Stewart! His name and an exclamation point, in fact, he should have more. ZuZu played a brand of football that was in All-American class. That is not my opinion! It is the opinion of a number of the gentlemen of the press in the glass-plated enclosure at the top of the stadium. Names on request. To be specific, they stated that if Stewart played as he played against the Generals in some game against a well-known team, and before an array of experts he would be considered All-American calibre.

A colorful player, a brainy one, an inspiring one, and (although he's not so well known about the University) likeable one . . . that's Kermit Stewart.

An interesting report from Tulsa U. states that young Keeling, who will be remembered from last season as the little fellow who dashed all about the frantic Colonials as the running mate of Billy Boehm, has a badly smashed collar-bone.

I just have to add this little remark. Remember Tom Dykes rushing over to the foot of the stands at the minute after the final whistle was blown and gase longingly upwards. I'm not sure what he was looking for but my psychic self tells me it (the gaze) was searching for a certain young lady. Football and love! My, my, what a combination!

This is a bad time to end this drivel, as Saturday's victory and the coming games deserve much comment, even from so humble a commentator as myself, but the hour is late, so you'll excuse me until next Tuesday.

Although I have it on the most excellent authority that Westminster adherents are willing to give us 6 points and still emerge victorious I still insist that such information is dubious. The Westminster game will be preparation for the Alabama fray. And "fray" it will be . . . in every sense of the word!

'Spirit of 76' Leads Band

The University Band followed the team to Washington and Lee Saturday and introduced the "Spirit of 76" as a feature of the afternoon. The roles of the historic Minute Men were taken by "Long John" Agnew, "Shorty" Gilman, and Dolph Atherton.

Change of Action Made for Frosh With Scrimmages

Frosh to Provide Scrimmage for Varsity and Have Lighter Schedule

Coaches Jean Sexton and Marion Hale of the freshman team have cancelled all of the games originally scheduled for the team. Instead of carrying their regular schedule, the frosh will be used in scrimmages against the varsity, and a lighter schedule will be arranged this week. Assistant Director of Athletics Max Farrington is working on a proposed four-game schedule.

This year's freshman football aggregation is sufficient to bring a smile to the face of any coach. Cavorting upon the gridiron are a group of freshmen huskies who seem potentially to be the equals of the great 1929 Frosh eleven. Among the 22 men listed on the roster we have captains of 15 high school teams.

Among the stellar performers are Don and Lee Zuber, of Arkansas. Lee is a fullback; he averages 50 yards on his punts, passes, runs, and is an excellent blocking back. Don, a quarterback, is slight of stature and exceedingly agile. Kenneth Rathjen, one of the finest defensive players on the field, forms the bulwark of the line, covering the center position. "Reds" tips the scales at 198.

Sidney Kolker, a lineman, was all-high tackle at Tech High School in the District of Columbia for three years. He is rated as the best lineman produced in Washington for the past five years. "Don" Bomba, hailing from Texas, another backfield man weighing in at 194, looks like certain varsity material. Don has been giving the varsity players quite a workout in their recent scrimmages.

The roster of the team follows:

Name	Position	Home	Weight
Floyd Drury	FB	Kansas	190
Cecil Stager	HB	South Dakota	178
Don Bomba	QB	Texas	194
Paul Jarrett	HB	Missouri	145
Ben Plotnick	QB	Indiana	161

Colonials' Attention Turned to Contest With Crimson Tide

Comment From Nation's Newspapers Indicates Difficult Schedule; Play Westminster Friday

With the Washington and Lee Generals locked up in Jim Pixlee's guard house, the attention of Colonial fans is centered on future contests. On Friday night the Buff and Blue gridmen entertain Westminster College of New Wilmington, Pa. George Washington is expected to win by an easy margin. Alabama's Crimson Tide will be their guests on Saturday, October 8, and Coach Pixlee's efforts are being directed towards that date.

Listed below are a few excerpts from leading newspapers of the country on the teams we are to meet this season: Alabama Pleases Critics

Interfraternity Golf, Tennis and Track Teams Start Play

Sigma Nu Faces Strong Attack On Titles in Golf, Tennis and Track

The interfraternity sport season will open on Sunday, October 2, when the athletes of the various fraternities compete in tennis and golf. As before, the teams are divided into two leagues, the winner of each meeting for the cup in the finals.

Sigma Nu, last year's winner in tennis and golf, will face a determined assault for the uplifting of her cups. Her chances seem best in tennis, for Clyde Smith, winner of the intramural tournament, and Grammy Allen, undefeated in two years' play, will represent them. Of course nothing is certain in sport, and especially interfraternity sport, for there may be several unheard-of wonders waiting to pounce upon the unsuspecting victims.

The golf match will probably revert to the usual golf matches, and develop

With the advent of the women's rushing season, there will be many problems to confront the bewildered freshman coed. The question of what to wear on each occasion has always been a most important one.

The variety of functions does not imply that each will require a different frock. Only three dresses will be absolutely necessary—a sport dress, an afternoon dress, and an evening gown. There will be luncheons, teas, suppers, bridges, formal dinners and dances, and many unique parties to round out the program of each sorority.

At the luncheons, which are usually informal, it is best to wear a dress fashioned along sports lines, of light wool or crepe. If the luncheon is followed by a bridge, it would be better to wear an afternoon frock. Be careful not to wear clothes to luncheons and bridge which are too dressy.

Teas will require an afternoon frock of velvet, crepe, satin or print silk. The same attire can be worn to late afternoon or night parties which do not call for formal evening clothes.

Dances are, of course, formal. Satins, velvets, chiffons, and crepes are sponsored this fall, and with the new necklines and the novel treatment of the shoulder line, a variety of suitable styles is available.

For such parties as picnics, wiener and marshmallow roasts, and for treasure hunts, heavy, warm clothes are the most appropriate. It is better to be comfortable in old clothes on such occasions, than smart and ill at ease in new attire.

New and old students of George Washington University were cordially welcomed by the Student Council at the first social affair of the year, a dance held at the University on Wednesday night, September 21.

Entertainment by the Troubadours included "We'll Come Smiling Through," and "Only in Dreams," from "Happy Landings," sung by Ruth Molyneux; songs by Joe Danzansky, dancing by members of the chorus of last year's Troubadour show, and original piano selections by Dan Beattie. Joe Danzansky acted as master of ceremonies.

South American Situation Discussed in "Current History" Publication

Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, in an interesting article entitled "War Clouds in South America," which appears in the September issue of "Current History," discusses the present situation in that country.

In his article he discusses the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Chaco Boreal. The claims of the two countries, which are based on historical boundaries, have caused many flare-ups, but no formal declaration of war has been made. Although a truce was signed on August 10, the prospects for peaceful settlement are not bright. Bolivia desires settlement because she is landlocked in South America with no access to the Pacific. There is a universal desire throughout the New World for settlement of this dispute, but this appears as unwarranted interference to one of the countries.

Dean Doyle also discusses the civil war in Brazil, which is an uprising against the Vargas government, because of their failure to restore constitutional government, and the Peruvian uprising against President Sanchez Cerro by the Communists and "Apra" party, which has created many difficulties for the President.

Think G. W. Could Do Better? At the University of Missouri, it was found that after an investigation, that less than twenty-five per cent of the students knew the name of their dean.

300 Catholics Expected; Craig Wins National Secretaryship

A meeting and an informal dance to be given in Corcoran Hall 10, at 8 p. m., October 5, 1932, will open the 1932-33 program of the Newcomb Club of the University. Elizabeth Geiger, chairman of the membership committee, states that an attendance of over three hundred Catholic students is expected at this opening dance, which has come to be regarded as an annual event among Colonial Catholics.

The Rev. Dr. John Keating Cartwright, chaplain of the club, will be present to give a word of welcome to all of those who are just newly entered in the University and to the older members who are returning.

An announcement of special interest to Colonial Catholics is that of the election of Dorothy Craig as corresponding secretary of the International Federation of College Catholic Clubs at the International Conference of the Federation at Los Angeles, California, on July 16 last. Dorothy Craig is a special student in the University, and has been interested in Newman Club affairs for the past three years. While in Los Angeles she represented the Newman Club of George Washington as alternate delegate to the conference, assisting Elizabeth Geiger from the School of Education, who was present at the conference as delegate.

"The Cardinal," a monthly magazine, official organ of the Newman Club of George Washington University, will be released Friday, October 30. All Catholic students or faculty members desiring copies of the magazine, or wishing to receive information about the club, are requested to call Wilbur McNallan, 1201 Thirteenth street northwest, phone Metropolitan 0105, or to call in person at the office of the dean of the School of Engineering for an appointment with him.

All Catholic students are invited to attend the meeting, dance and party to be given October 5.

Other attractively dressed women were Kitty Fox in a copy of Constance Bennett's frock of black satin with puffed sleeves of white organdy, Virginia Hawkins in gold lace and brown velvet, and Barbara Wells in black satin trimmed with sequins.

Professor and Mrs. Dudley Wilson Willard, of the sociology department, chaperoned and Helen Lupton and Mrs. Thomas presided at the tea table.

Simon, Metz, Bisgyer, and Mendelsohn Compose Advisory Board

Details of an oratorical contest for all Jewish students of the University to be sponsored by the George Washington University Menorah Society are being worked out by that organization's advisory board, which consists of Rabbi Abram Simon and Solomon Metz; Maurice Bisgyer, director of the Jewish Community Center; Ben Zion Emmanuel, head of the Hebrew school in the Center; and Israel Mendelsohn, former president of Menorah.

Meetings of the Society will be held this year on the first and third Wednesdays of every month. They will probably include a series of historical lectures, a debate with the Young People's League of local synagogues, open forums, and lectures by well-known speakers, as well as the oratorical contest.

Besides these trips projects have been planned to the Semitic sections of the Congressional Library and National Museum. An outline of the year's schedule will be presented at the first open meeting to be held October 5.

Thirteen paintings by Francis Jean Reuter, artist and student in the School of Architecture, are now in the All-Washington exhibit at the Sears-Roebuck Galleries.

His works, according to the self-critique of the artist, are "satires on social pests which should interest students of sociology and psychology." Miss Helen Buchalter, art critic of the Washington Daily News, says that Reuter proclaims the New Era by reflecting in his works the striving toward unity, progress, independence and peace of the Modern Age.

Reuter is a versatile man, interested in music, poetry, philosophy, engineering, and mathematics.

Born in Switzerland, Reuter studied in France under Francois Gauges and Maurice Barbin. At present he is working on some paintings to be exhibited at the Art Institute of Chicago, and is preparing lectures he will deliver here in Washington this fall.

President Marvin Points Out Value Of College Career

School Head Opens 112 Academic Year Stressing University Aids

New students at the opening assembly in Corcoran Hall last Wednesday received a charge from Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin to make their college training the means for the social, intellectual and spiritual enrichment of their own lives and life about them. This assembly marks the opening of George Washington's one hundred and twelfth academic year.

Dr. Marvin told the attendants at the meeting that "there is something in human experience beyond that which we perceive or comprehend," and urged them to "get exhilaration from the finer things of life that are beyond reason, that come to you through a constant belief that life is good and that your lives, as scholars, are dedicated to that reality. All the knowledge that you get here, all the strength, all the social facility, leads to but one thing—the power that comes because one has faith in his life as it relates to the great power in all life."

Students were urged by the President to go beyond interpretations that come to them in class and in text books. "Do not take the modern text as the last word in the analysis of all human experience in any particular field, but look back until you appreciate the growth of that field. The great masters of all time are your friends," said Dr. Marvin.

Dean Henry Gratian Doyle explained the University's advisory system among other phases of campus life, advising the students to "make study a student activity." Provost William Allen Wilbur presided over this assembly, and helpful talks were given by Mrs. Virginia G. Barrows, Professor James E. Pixlee and Professor Ruth Atwell.

Assembly Open Medical School.
The School of Medicine was opened Wednesday with an assembly addressed by President Marvin and by Dean Earle Baldwin McKinley. In stressing the severe discipline required by the medical education and the new emphasis upon scientific medicine in the University's program of medical education, Dr. Marvin admonished the medical students that "as professional men who believe in this profession you cannot but consecrate your every act to that end."

Dean McKinley mentioned the remodeling of the Medical School building as having made the structure "a new plant inside," adding: "We are proud of the old exterior, embodying the traditions and lives that have built this venerable institution."

"While it is important that improvements in the plant have given the school equipment and facilities not excelled by those of any other medical school in the country, it is the work that goes on within that counts," Dean McKinley said. "With the splendid group of Washington professional men who serve on the clinical staff, with our full-time teachers who are contributing to the upbuilding of medical education as they have in the past, and with the addition of new full-time members of the staff who have come this year from many of the great institutions of this country, the school has a faculty to boast of," he declared.

New Degree Offered In Pharmacy School

Four-Year Course Adopted to Conform With Minimum Standard

The School of Pharmacy, with the opening of the University this fall, begins its new four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy. This minimum standard has been adopted by all of the accredited colleges of pharmacy.

For the first two years students will be registered in the Junior College, but will be allowed to take a few courses in Pharmacy. After receiving the Junior Certificate they will transfer their registration to the School of Pharmacy to complete their professional work for the degree.

To be recommended for the degree the candidate must have satisfied the admission, residence, scholarship, and curriculum requirements. He must be at least twenty-one years of age and of good character.

The laboratory method of teaching is used. Recitation classes are held in connection with each course in order to provide systematic drill in the subjects. Students in Pharmacy have the advantage of obtaining instruction in any department of the University.

Deluge of Cub Hatchettes Inundates Editorial Offices

Seventy-five persons applied for positions on The George Washington Hatchet staff, according to the count after the preliminary call-over. Competition for permanent positions is to be keen, as the percentage of persons to be placed on the staff is to be fewer than in former years because of the revised plan of the editors.

The large number of applicants in face of the difficulties of obtaining a position attests to the popularity of newspaper work in the University.

COLONIALS WIN 18-0 VICTORY OVER W. & L. IN OPENING GAME

before being downed on the Colonial 25-yard marker. Line plays and passes gained but 3 yards in four downs and it was G. W.'s ball on their own 22-yard line. Kriemelmeyer and Sawyer exchanged punts, G. W. gaining 20 yards. In rapid succession a pass from Fenlon to Chambers netted 29 yards and a 34-yard dash to the goal through right tackle by Fenlon made the score 12-0. Fenlon again failed to make the extra point.

Generals Held G. W. for Downs.
Again in the second quarter it looked as if Coach Pixlee's men would score. Fenlon passed to Mulvey for 18 yards and then skirted around right end for another 25 yards. At this point the Generals held the G. W. threat for downs. Strayer kicked to Fenlon after Mosovich made a 7-yard gain through the line. Kriemelmeyer and Fenlon together ripped off a first down on the W. and L. 34-yard strip. Chambers made another first down after a pass from Fenlon. The half ended with the ball in G. W.'s possession in the Generals' territory.

Mosovich recovered a Colonial fumble in the third period on the G. W. 42-yard line. Line plays featuring Henthorne, Sawyer and Bacon, made short gains for the Generals. After a short punting duel, G. W. made another drive to the goal. Matia, substitute for Fenlon at half, shot a short pass to F. Parrish, who ran 55 yards for a touchdown. Dooze gave splendid interference to Parrish after he received the pass. Kriemelmeyer's boot missed the uprights, making the score 18-0.

Tardy Defense Stops G. W.
The Colonials were content to play the defensive in the last quarter when Jay Henthorne, clever General fullback, intercepted Fenlon's pass and ran 28 yards to his own 34-yard line. Sawyer then passed to Mosovich for a first down and Henthorne and Sawyer added another with line plunges before they were stopped. A pass combination of Fenlon to "Ozzie" Wray, substitute end, all but scored a fourth goal for G. W. had it not been for the tardy pass defense exhibited by W. and L. in the last few minutes of the game.

into a free-for-all with the breaks going to the winner.

The track meet, postponed from last spring, will be run off on October 15. Many athletes have been spread among the various fraternities since the last meet and so the competition should be keener than usual. As this will probably be the last track meet to be held, added incentive is given to the contestants, the last of something always creating a sort of glamor.

Schedule Listed.
Many of the difficulties of the past have been eliminated by the printing of the schedules, the draw, and the dates of each event in the Handbook, so a smooth running-off of these contests is looked forward to with keen interest.

The schedules are as follows: Tennis, League A, Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Theta Upsilon Omega; League B, Acacia vs. Theta Delta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Delta Tau Delta, and Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Mu Sigma.

In golf, League A, Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Theta Upsilon Omega; League B, Theta Delta Chi vs. Kappa Alpha, Delta Tau Delta vs. Acacia, Sigma Mu Sigma vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Schmidt Ends Tour Of Study in Europe

Returns to Post of University Librarian After Sabbatical Year.

Students and faculty alike will have the opportunity of renewing a valuable acquaintance as Prof. Alfred F. W. Schmidt returns to his post as University Librarian and director of the division of Library Science.

After a year's absence on sabbatical leave, which time was spent studying and touring in Europe, Prof. Schmidt returns to his duties with additional interest and enthusiasm.

His stay in Europe, centered principally upon Germany, was crowded with fascinating experiences. He attended the international celebration of the 400th birthday of Goethe. This festival was held in Frankfurt, where the leading Goethe scholars from Europe and the United States gathered to pay homage to this great German writer.

Attends Convention.
In Florence, Italy, Prof. Schmidt attended the fourth international convention of Book Publishers. Here the leading publishers of all countries except Germany were represented. He was greatly impressed by the very fine make-up of the typography and illustrations of the Italian books. The convention was a spectacular affair, rendered more so by the fascinating exhibits presented by the different countries.

On June 9, Prof. Schmidt was in Bern, Switzerland. The convention of the International League of Library Associations was being held at that time. Dr. Bishop of the University of Michigan, who was the delegate from the United States and also president of the association appointed Prof. Schmidt as associate delegate so that he could attend the meetings.

Enthusiastic Over Scenery.

Prof. Schmidt said: "I saw the most exquisite and magnificent scenery I had ever seen. I gazed upon the finest painting and sculpture in the world and the most stupendous and magnificent architecture anywhere. In Stratford-on-Avon, in Munich, and in Vienna I witnessed the outstanding dramas masterfully presented. I heard the finest opera and music in Munich and Vienna. I visited the world's largest and greatest libraries in all cities from Hamburg to Palermo, Sicily, and back again, including England."

Prof. Schmidt added: "With that as a background, the inspiration gained—not only by seeing, handling and studying these productions of the human mind, but also by personally meeting the world's leading librarians, should be a stimulus to more effective teaching."

Buckingham to Head Interfraternity Board

Object Is to Bring Alumni and Students in Closer Relationship.

After a series of meetings of the alumni advisors of twelve campus fraternities and the Interfraternity Council, an Interfraternity Consultative Board has been founded. This board, which was conceived by President Marvin, is regarded as a real step forward in interfraternity activities.

The board's membership is to consist of four members from each fraternity, two from the active chapter and a senior and junior member of the alumni.

The following officers were elected for the coming year at the Board's last meeting: D. Randall Buckingham, president and George Degnan, treasurer.

The object of the board as outlined is to cultivate a closer relationship between the alumni and student members of the fraternities, provide a body for discussion of problems of mutual interest to the fraternities and to make recommendations to better the general condition.

The board will meet in the second week of the months of March, May, July, October, and December.

Students Go Military In Marine Reserves

Kitchen Policing, Mosquitoes, Bugles, Add Much to Camp Life.

"I can't get 'em up in the morning." But those 150 or more G. W.-ites who chose to go "marching" this summer at Virginia Beach did get up, and at 5:30 in the morning, particularly when Top Sergeant Link came down the street with his big brass whistle.

The lack of a government vacation coupled with that "I love a parade" instinct drove many of our lads to go military for 15 days. It was quite a common sight to see the University's prominent social elite carrying a gun, doing kitchen police or swatting mosquitoes in an effort to be soldiers.

Jack Vivian and Gordon Potter, displaying their usual aptitude for skipping work, joined the motor transport, while Brad Swope became a real saber rattler in a nice new officer's uniform.

The Sigma Chi's made a chapter affair by enlisting ten men in one company, featuring such well known youths as Sergeant Sawtelle, Private Malamphy, whose specialty was kitchen police, while "Orporalca" Dodge handled his "Adsq" very ably in this diverting tongue.

Editor Fesler, last year's mess sergeant, took the hint and stayed home this year.

The open arm welcome of the Virginia Beach lassies, however, has made many of the lads resolve to return next year. Oh, yeah!

Minnesota Coeds Declare That Petting, Kissing Don't Necessitate Perfect Man

By Exchange Service

Intelligence and old-fashioned manners, with petting not necessary, make up the Perfect Man. This is the opinion of forty-six coeds, who took part in a comprehensive examination on social relations given last spring in the educational advisory class at the University of Minnesota.

Results of the test, which was composed of questions chosen by four fair coeds pertaining to various and summary difficulties that arise in the everyday social life of the modern girl, were determined a few days ago. From the entire forty-six coeds who engaged in the questionnaire, only one-fourth enjoy petting in the general sense of the word, and not one of them expected to be kissed on the first date. What terrible news for those Minnesota gentlemen who believe coeds think more of a man when he portrays the typical Bacchic or sensualistic part.

Blind Dates Acceptable
Another feature exposed by the compilation was that blind dates are acceptable, although it was made clear that not one of them would go out with an undesirable man merely to attend some certain function. Then, too, one-half of the coeds said they would not accept a date with a boy who had a bad reputation, which, of course, brings out one point of logic in their answers.

Now comes a blow to the fraternity men. A comparatively small number said they did not prefer a fraternity man, and a similar number emphasized the fact that the standing of the particular fraternity did not make the least bit of difference to them. Fraternities might not play such a major part in the estimation of the boy, but one thing the majority of the coeds insisted upon was a respectful mention, on the part of the boy, of his own parents.

Chivalry Upheld.
The questionnaire proceeded to various other questions ranging from the chivalrous side of social relations to the more modern conceptions of smoking and drinking. Apropos chivalry, the majority ruled that the gentleman should assist them across the street, should take especial notice in their respective garments, tip their hats when speaking to a member of the weaker sex, and walk on the outside of the walk. Then in keeping with this reserved mood they all pointed out that kissing was absolutely not expected on the first date, and above all no necking of any sort, not even in the general sense of the word.

In addition, courses will be given in economics of life insurance and life insurance salesmanship, and the principles and practices of life insurance by outside experts.

The Certified Life Underwriters designation, comparable to the designation of Certified Public Accountant, is given on the basis of examinations held each June in various parts of the country by the American College of Life Underwriters. For the past four years the examinations for this area have been given in Washington under the supervision of Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, Ph.D.

The following lists will be available for consultation at the reserve section: assigned collateral books, arranged by courses; reference books in the general library; periodicals received currently in the University libraries; new books added to the library in 1931-1932; theses written at the George Washington University in 1931-1932, and library facilities in Washington.
